

Treasures handed on... ...Taonga tuku iho

Book launched on August 27

This is your chance to find out what Auckland's young people treasure about our region and its environment through their writing and artwork.

As a result of our recent competition thirty seven young writers and artists have their work published in a visually appealing full colour publication. This will be distributed to all primary and intermediate schools in the Auckland region.

Thank you all for participating in this ARC initiative.
