Operators require certainty as to the consent status of their activities and the definition of a controlled activity in this way is not sufficiently certain and therefore unlawful (see proposed new wording in appeal).  It is also inappropriate for the ARC to retain control over the methods used to achieve the performance standards. These are the responsibility and within the expertise of the Network Operators. Network performance, is determined by the BPO that is developed as part of the ICMP or NMP. The Regional Council's discretion should be restricted to the extent to which the BPO is consistent with the NMP and ICMP objectives (see proposed new wording in appeal).  The Regional Council should not be able to direct applicants to achieve performance standards they are unable to achieve. The Regional Council should not retain control over methods to achieve performance standards as these are the responsibility and within the expertise of the Network Operators. Standard and term (iv) refers to the adoption of the BPO for managing stormwater and wastewater networks. The development of the BPO is a requirement of a NMP. Therefore a stormwater or wastewater consent which is applied for in the absence of a supporting NMP fails to meet Rule 5.5.10(iii) and is a discretionary activity.
